

Profitable Service Business Specializing in Furniture Repair and Refinishing

The owner started this business two years ago and it is already profitable with an upward growth trend. The services are in high demand and allow a buyer the opportunity to capitalize on the growth trend the seller has established and continue to build the company. The primary source of revenue is performing inspections on damaged household items at the request of moving carriers and insurance companies and making in-home repairs. These leads are provided directly to the business through insurance claims where the business has been established as the preferred provider.

No previous experience in the industry is necessary as you will be trained in the craft of making repairs by the franchisor with support from the seller. However, this opportunity could be particularly attractive to an owner who loves craftsmanship, has a wood shop, and likes the idea of having a large base of business come through referrals. The current owner only spends about 30 hours per week on the business and has developed the revenue stream mainly through insurance referrals from moving and storage carriers.

This opportunity offers plenty of "blue sky" revenue growth for an owner who wants to aggressively market their services. The business is a part of a well-known and respected franchise and is backed by a proven business model, brand, ongoing training, and ongoing monthly revenue support through industry contacts. The business as structured currently can be run out of your home. This business offers the opportunity to build additional sources of revenue by accepting more insurance claims assignments and/or marketing your services which are in high demand to the local home owners, hotels, offices etc. This business is also ideal for a current business owner offering these same services but looking to join a network with high brand recognition with an established referral base.
