Ron's Ramblings

Hello Everyone,

Well our second meeting with our "shop tours" went off a little better. Jerry Anson and Dennis Motl both had some pretty impressive shops. After seeing the videos, did it make you want to go home and start cleaning up your shop? Okay, it did for me! I'm always looking for something I can add to my shop to improve it, and to make it a more efficient work place.

Both of those shops were cleaner than my shop, so I guess that's one spot I can start. I like to see what brand of equipment the other members are using and get input on how they like the performance. Just because it has a popular name doesn't mean it's the best for your application. Thanks for the tours, guys!

Work safe and share your hobby!

REFLECTIONS

The Annual Neu's Woodworking Show will take place Saturday, February 24th, at their Menomonee Falls location from 9am to 4pm. As usual, WWG will have a 'booth' right near the entrance. Hot dogs, brats, etc. will be served – no charge! If you have anything you've produced that could be put on the table for display, see Ron.

Justin Gasal reminded us that the Milwaukee Woodworking Show has returned! Details are on page 6. Justin is heading up the team of members manning the WWG booth. Check with Justin to sign up to help.

Pete Schuh spoke about the 36th Annual Northeastern Wisconsin Woodworkers Guild Woodworking Show coming up on March 17th & 18th. In addition to demos on many different types of woodworking. There will also be used tools for sale. Details are on page 6.

Jay Pilling spoke about the upcoming tour of Oshkosh Designs in Winniconne on Wednesday, April 18th at 1:30pm. If you didn't sign up but would like to attend, let Jay know. Cost is $10 per person.

Ron Pederson had suggested to Ron Reuter that suppliers be contacted to see if they would like to make a donation to WWG. Ron R has done this with surprisingly good results. Titebond has donated 2 gallons of Type III glue – some of which will be used to assemble our work benches. Donations have also come in from Woodline USA, Penn State, and Woodsmith Magazine. Today, Ron received a response from Kreg in the mail: a Kreg Jig® K5 Master System, with a suggested retail value of $169.99. The best use for this Jig may be to keep it for our Guild workshop. Letters have also gone out to Powermatic and Bosch.

Ron also updated us on the efforts of setting up the shop in the Woodcraft basement (work benches will be built by members; new carpet on the stairs to be installed; the K-5 master jig, etc.).

Jim Schlarb promoted the raffles and mentioned the new belt sander that was on the raffle table. It had never been used and was being offered by Home Depot in the store's rental area at a price that was about 25% off the original price. Jim did some more negotiating and eventually bought it at a steal. Jim also made mention of a specialty lumber store where wood can be obtained for reasonable prices. The store is at Boehm-Madisen Lumber Company, located at N16W22100 Jericho Dr. in Waukesha (near Springdale and Watertown Roads). Thanks to Jim, Boehm-Madisen will be taking a spot on our new Sponsor Page. (I suggested to Jay that we schedule a tour. Ed.)

Norm Lange gave us an update on the Guild's Christmas Elves. He reminded those who might be unaware that there is a storehouse of toy samples and plans that members are welcome to go through with the idea of making toys for the disadvantaged we serve. Our dedicated members, AKA Christmas Elves, have been producing toys for over 34 years. These toys are currently distributed to eight shelters for battered and abused women and their children in the area. Channel 6 did a segment a few years ago as part of their morning show showing our Christmas Elves at work. The video can be accessed through the Guild website. Norm noted that this year, our Elves will be adding items that will most assuredly be welcomed by the women such as mirrors and jewelry boxes.

One of the shelters that receive toys from our Christmas Elves is the Women's Center of Waukesha. We were privileged to have Molly, WCW's Program Support Coordinator, with us who shared some thoughts about how our donations affect the women and children served by WCW.

At any given time, WCW serves an average of about 20 children in the shelter, as well as another 20 children in the Counseling Center. The children range in age from newborns to 18. When children leave the Center, they are permitted to take a toy with them which they appreciate immensely. Molly said the duck with the moving feet was the most popular. Baby strollers and cradles are also popular.

The meeting was then turned over to the shop tour videos. First up was Jerry Anson's shop. Jerry builds a lot of ship models. He said his shop was "very compact", but he has a lot of equipment in there. Some very innovative storage/machinery stand solutions.

The second video tour was of Jerry Motl's shop which started in Jerry's yard where he had created a bridge over a small ravine. He had also made some artistic pieces including a beautiful blue heron. Jerry's shop measures 24' x 32' and includes a metal shop in addition to a woodshop. He spoke highly of his Dust Deputy which is one part of his dust collector system.

HEY Did You Know?

Igneous vs. sedimentary: Traditional finishers use pumice for rubbing finishes, but finer rottenstone for polishing them to gloss. They're quite different in nature. Pumice is ground-up porous igneous volcanic rock, formed when aerated lava cools quickly. Rottenstone is siliceous limestone powder, a sedimentary rock formed largely of layers of skeletal fragments of marine organisms. Woodworker's Journal, August 2016

Know your Fellow Woodworker

When and how did you get interested in woodworking? How old were you? What type of woodworking do you do now? What do you find satisfies you about woodworking? What do you do when you run into an issue or problem while woodworking? Do you work with someone else? What fascinates you that you haven't tried yet in your woodworking? What piece that you made are you most proud of and why?

Answer these questions in an email or write them on a piece of paper and submit them to Leila or Don. We will figure out how to share them so others can learn more about you.

SILENT AUCTION

Be sure to check out all the new treasures Jim has put out for January. Going, going, GONE!!

Items in the auction are donated by members and friends of the Guild. Smaller items can be brought in; items too large to bring in will have a picture and detailed description.

Bidding is open to members and non-members. Items will be awarded to the highest bidder. Any donated item that doesn't receive bids by break-time of the second meeting will either be moved to the monthly raffle program or returned to the donor.

Proceeds from the auction go directly to the Guild to help cover the cost of educational activities such as workshops, seminars, lectures and exhibits.

LOCAL WORKSHOP TOURS CONTINUING

Wisconsin Woodworkers Guild is continuing to tour member's woodworking shops. Thanks to Jim Matthew for stepping up to do the video recording and to Jay Pilling for organizing everything. Currently, Jay has five of our members who have already had their shops toured.

Recordings of the tours will be shown at upcoming WWG meeting. The first recording to be shown will be of Jim Schlarb's shop which will happen at our January meeting. This presentation will be using a format that will allow questions from the audience during the playback. If necessary, the playback will be stopped to address questions.

For security reasons, recordings will NOT be made part of anything that goes outside the Guild. That limitation is specifically directed at any possibility of it going on the Internet. It won't!!

Touring of club-member workshops have been suggested by many members. Thanks to the number of members who have volunteered their shops for touring, it is conceivable that this may be an ongoing project. Tours of a few workshops might take place each year during the spring through fall timeframe and then shown at a January, February or March meeting. Although seeing a shop that is impeccably appointed will likely be of interest, the primary goal is to provide insight so that our members who may have limited space and/or limited resources can discover ways they can enjoy this wonderful hobby within their limitations. If you have any suggestions, please talk to Jay.

Respectfully, Your Board of Directors

FROM THE LIBRARY

I've noticed some of our library books have been out for several months. If you are still reading them, just stop by and let me know you still want them. If you're not sure you have one out, check with me. Keep in mind, someone else may be looking for that book.

Our cabinets are getting full and the extra weight is starting to cause them to sag. Ron hopes to present a new cabinet design to the board. Once approved, he'll be looking for help to build them (hint, hint!).

SHOW 'N TELL

Al Herwig exhibited a very interesting object that was an example of chip carving with a glass inlay - somehow he melted the glass (1500 degrees) to blend the different pieces.

Jim Schlarb showed several weaving frames which he constructed as well as a wooden vase which he used to describe how he finds the center of a circle and how he attached the handles.

Kevin Seigworth had two examples of “impossible dovetails” which he constructed just for fun. They were “impossible” because, when you looked at them it appeared impossible to assemble them. He then showed us how it was done.

As a prelude to the presentation by Molly, Norm Lange brought out some samples of toys made by our Christmas Elves, including the duck Molly spoke about. (Also, see letter from Junior Achievement to WWG on page 8. - ed.)

empowering young people to own their economic success

Lyle Husar and Norman Lange
C/o Lyle Husar Designs

Brookfield, WI 53045

Dear Norman and Lyle,

As you may know, the relevance of Junior Achievement's mission to inspire and prepare students with the economic skills, workforce readiness and confidence they will need to become productive citizens in our community has never been greater. Your generous donation of the 3-in-1 handmade chair to the 2017 Junior Achievement Holiday Auction is greatly appreciated.

Gentlemen, the bidding on this item was 'on fire.' As we thought, there were many grandparents interested in it as well as first time moms. JA was so very fortunate to be the recipient of this great, one-of-a-kind item.

Because of you and others, Junior Achievement is able to provide programming to more than 10,000 Milwaukee area students during this school year. By empowering these students to take greater control of their economic future, your gift will have a lasting impact in our community.

I've enclosed the program booklet, a photo from the display/promotion during the electronic bidding, as well as a photo of the prominent set-up and display the night of the holiday auction. I personally spent the night showcasing your work of art, and enjoyed every minute of it. You both are master craftsmen!

Again, we appreciate your support, and that of the Wisconsin Woodworker Guild, and look forward to sharing our future JA successes with you.

Happy holidays and a healthy and prosperous New Year!

My best,
